

Global: Validation type

Validation type

A validation type is used to check if a single attribute value is valid at runtime.

Validation types are created outside Blueriq Encore in the Blueriq SDK. In Blueriq Encore you can make implemented types available by creating a definition.

Check the Validation types for help on the predefined Blueriq validation types.